Wind turbines a threat to rare, declining species

regard to the proposal for the erection of a 77m wind turbine at Hill House Farm in St Mary Hill, I would just like to point out that in 2008, the then council declared that Llangan was a conservation area and, in particular, St Mary Hill.

The proposed location of this huge wind tur-bine, along with access track and infrastructure, is a nesting ground for many species – includ-ing the skylark – and would cause damage and habitat loss for a species in decline.

This whole lovely area is also fortunate enough to have many other (declining) soaring birds, such as the peregrine falcon, kite and kestrel, and according to the RSPB, there is a risk of collision (visit ing wildlife sites). Nearby, on Ruthin common, the rare brown fritillary butterfly can also be found, only one of four sites in the UK.

As a keen wildlife enthusiast myself, I would ask all local residents to consider how lucky they are to live in such a wildlife-rich area and how they will feel if it changes.

The proposed turbine does not sound very conservation-friendly to me. Many people are still not aware of this planning application.

As a friend of mine pointed out: "If it is so large that it will be visible to most of the Vale, why hasn't the council made me aware of it?
"I will certainly see it from my property, even though I do not live in St Mary Hill,"

I ask everyone to consider this – will you see it, and how detrimental is it to our beautiful (and rare) declining species? St Mary Hill

Trees plan: threat to our wildlife

WAS pleased to see Coun Curtis' recent letter (to The GEM) regarding the threat to our wildlife.

This is a subject close to my heart; therefore, what a pity he did not speak out about the proposed destruction of approximately 50 ealthy trees in Boverton.

These trees are home to an amazing number of species, both plants and animals.

We currently have sparrowhawks nesting in there, alongside so many others - woodpeckers, jays etc.

The area also has a river which is full of brown trout and eels and every spring we have ducks returning to

In turn, of course, we have herons flying in to feed. What a beautiful sight.

All this will be destroyed by the planning department and the environment agency, in order for four houses to be built – bearing in mind this is a flood

I am not a NIMBY, I am simply trying to pre-serve the countryside for future generations. Jeananne Evans. Llantwit Major

'Address problems'

HE local MP, Alun Cairns states that the Vale receives a poor financial settlement and asks people to sign his online petition, which he will pass to the Assembly Government showing how angry Vale residents are with the situation.

He once again picks a subject that is the sole concern of the Assembly Government, elected by the Welsh people.

He should concern himself with problems caused by the Conservative-led Coalition Government in Westminster – such as the fall in our living standards, rising child poverty, the 'bedroom tax', which is condemned by all leading charities, and the attack on the disabled that means many will lose part, or all, of their bene-fit when DLA becomes PIP

There is rising unemployment in Wales and demonisation of the unemployed by George Osborne and Ian Duncan Smith – only three per cent of the welfare budget is paid to the unemployed and only 0.7 per cent is claimed fraudulently. Not forgetting the £1.7 billion cut to funding imposed on the Welsh people – while giving over £11 billion in overseas aid. G Smith. Llantwit Major.

Road works: 'THANK YOU' through the pages of your newspaper, thank the residents of the Vale for their patience while the council's highways division has been carrying out a major road resurfacing programme.

We have tried to keep any disruption to a minimum, but with around £4 million being invested, there is bound to be a little inconvenience.

The last three winters have seen record amounts of snow, ice and rainwater damaging our roads.

That is why we also introduced the 'BIG Fill' campaign, which is soon to visit every ward in the Vale, to address any outstanding potholes and highway defects.

Our contractors have been working hard to reduce the numbers of blighted our roads for far too long.

Our teams have filled over 3,000 extra pot-holes, used 30 tonnes of tarmac over an average weekend, filling potholes – and repaired approximately 200 potholes in each ward they visited.

READ with amusement Alun Cairns recent column in The GEM on the 'something for nothing' culture - as some MPs are the biggest recipients of that culture.

They are having a rise of over £10,000, which for many families is their total income – and that on top of generous salaries of £60-£80,000 per annum plus 'expenses', while low paid workers have to pay all their expenses from their salaries.

Who are the real beneficiaries of a 'something for nothing' culture'

MPs should take a long, hard look at themselves, and hang their heads in shame

They are dividing ciety, young against old, employed against unemployed.

Mr Cairns also criti-cises the tribunal system, which is there to ensure that the poorest and most vulnerable are given fair play. This Government has removed the right to legal aid from the poorest people - ensuring that they, or their unfair decisions, cannot be challenged. Paul Mules, Barry.

'Mass immigration has been a disaster

GEM letter (August 1) states that no problems have been caused by immigration into Britain.

In fact, mass immigration has created many problems for our country, including adverse impacts on social cohesion, public security, the environment, housing costs, job prospects, and wage rates.

It has also led to unacceptable pressure on the benefits system, the NHS schools and transport systems, due to the rapidly-increasing popu

He said that on June 20, 67-year-old Hilary West, who ran a florist shop in Colcot Road, noticed the lights of her Mercedes car flashing and saw Snooks behind the wheel.

She was shocked and Snooks told her: "I'm doing you a favour," and added that he had caught someone in the car.

Mrs West checked her home next door and found it had been burgled. Items, including her car keys, had been taken.

'The Winos' tread the boards for Rhoose WI members...

THE Rhoose WI held their summer social on August 1. at the Community Hall, when members joined in sequence dances.

Afterwards, 'Rhoose Winos' – the WI's drama group – entertained everyone with 'Scenes from Village Life', a sketch entitled 'Gossip', followed by a short comic play demonstrating the diffi-culties faced by an amateur dramatic group deciding which show to put on.

These offerings were well received by the audience, with a warm vote of thanks given by Barbara Goodway.

Earlier, the president had welcomed members and three visitors before proceeding with the business part of the evening.
This included the LEARNING FESTIVAL SHOWCASES TALENT THE annual Palmerston learning centres in the Barry area.

Learning Festival Art and Craft exhibition showcased the achievements of adult learners attending community learning classes at Barry centres.

Vale Mayor Coun Margaret Wilkinson officially opened the exhibition, before browsing through the rooms filled with displays of work, commented on the high standard of work, and praised learners for their hard work and dedication.

The exhibition was held over a whole week to allow more visitors the opportunity to enjoy the many exhibits on show including artwork, photography, textiles, pottery and ceramics, glasswork and sugarcraft. produced by adult learners attending a range of courses at community

"We are really proud of our learners and would like to thank all the staff, tutors and volunteers who have worked really hard to stage the exhibition," said centre manager Debbie Lewis. "Our learners have taken part in demonstrations and supporting the many activities taking place during the week.

During the week, taster workshops took place and visitors had the chance to try jewellery making, patchwork, stitch crafts, pottery and stained glass and learn how to use a sewing machine.

ECDL tutor Cath Roberts was on hand to talk to learners about ICT courses: while Welsh coordinator Mared Furnham, baked Welsh cakes, and gave advice on opportunities to learn Welsh.

A local company gives fundraising event a headstart

Chris Dawkins of TEI Ltd presents a cheque to Karin Armstrong.

A FUNDRAISING event inspired by the tragic death of a Barry girl - aged just 20 – has been given a boost by a local company.

Chris Dawkins, a contracts manager for TEI Ltd, recently presented a cheque for £250 to Karin Armstrong in aid the Teenage Cancer trust..

Karin's daughter, Stacey, who was once a pupil at Ysgol Bro Morgannwg, died of a brain tumour at the age of just 20 two years ago

Since then, friends have put on a series of fundraising events in memory of Stacey to raise cash for the Teenage Cancer Trust.

The next event is the 'Romilly Park Party' on Sunday, August 11. Entry will be free, and there will be live bands from 12 noon, with a childrens fun fair, a 'bat tle of the supermarkets', stalls and booths.

She said she was frightened of being in the house and was paranoid when she saw people in the street. Jones, the court heard, had convictions for 55 offences, including violence and burglary.

Solicitor Adam Sharpe said: "At the time, he was injecting methadrone in large quantities and his recollection of what hap-pened is not good. His mind was not all there.'
He said that eight of the 17 items taken were recovered and the house was not specifically targeted.

"It was all very unsophisticated and it was inevitable he was going to be detected. There was a period when for five-and-a-half years, he didn't offend. He is the first to acknowledge that his position is precari-

Throughout the year, Claire Thomas, along with other coaches. helps seven-to-13-year-olds at Llantwit Major SLSC (Surf Life-Saving Club) to improve their water survival skills, teaching them lifeguard techniques designed to reduce water accident

According to the Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents, young children are more likely to drown in rivers and beaches than in baths at Drowning is mainly caused by lack of awareness of water dangers, as well as the lack of swimming skills.

Keen to improve children's knowledge of swimming dangers, Claire is one of the longest serving volun-tary coaches at Llantwit Major SLSC, a club affiliated to the Surf Life Saving Association Wales (SLSAW).

Along with other club members, they patrol the beach at weekends between May and mid-September.

Having been involved with the club since she was a teenag-er, Claire (42) provides knowledge for life-sav-ing skills at annual national Nipper camp courses run by the SLSAW, one of which took place recently at Atlantic College, St Donat's Castle.

Participants, includ-ing 260 children from associated SLSAW clubs, were able to practice life-saving skills, from beach and water safety, first aid, basic life support skills, in addition to taking part in outdoor games, fitness and swimming. With support from other SLSAW volunteer coaches, they are taught to ensure they reach the necessary standard and all young people com-pleting the course were awarded a certificate marking their achievement.

Sponsored by Waterstone Homes, the event celebrated the club's 50-year anniver-sary, with 50 children from Llantwit Major SLSC attending the camp. This month, camp. they will be sending a team of Nippers, juniors, seniors and masters to compete in the SLSGB National Sport Surf Championships in

They have enrolled their eight-year-old son, Iwan, who is in his second year of Nippers while their 13-year-old daughter, Cerys, is in her final year before moving onto the junior section.

Claire, a HR manager at Waterstone Homes, stressed that it is important for children to learn about swimming safely and being prepared to help others.

She said: "I am proud to be a part of Llantwit Major SLSC, as I feel it is very important for children to learn about beach safety and swimming safely from a young age.

"I have been doing this since I was very young and I happily spend my spare time supporting activities that promote safety in the community.

"The club are very grateful to Waterstone Homes for sponsoring our most recent event, which has encouraged lots of young people to learn important water survival skills and general beach safety.

"Beaches such as Llantwit Major and Barry Island have very strong currents and children have to be strong swimmers to be safe.

"Courses such as these, and basic awareness, can go a long way towards saving lives, and I urge more people to get involved in a lifesaving club near them. whatever their age."

'Charges will drive trade away I NOTE that the Vale Council more trade away from Barry.

is now looking at hitting residents in Barry with car parking charges.

A recently carried out survey considers where these charges may apply as if the residents of Barry and the Vale don't have enough to pay out now in extortionate council tax.

Amenities in Barry are non-existent, we have no cinema, no outdoor pool. If the council persists in charging drivers to park, it will drive even more trade away from Barry. Perhaps if they want to bring in parking charges, councillors could start by paying to park at the Civic Offices, and ensure that they cannot reclaim these in their expenses It seems to me that the politicians

'Heavier fines for dog fouling'

REFER to a letter in last week's GEM concerning dog fouling, which is a major issue.

It is one of the most offensive types of litter on our streets and is consistently raised as a public concern. Many people find dog fouling offensive, and rightly

I myself am a dog wner and I feel strongly that fouling should not be tolerated on our streets - but still we are seeing some owners failing to clean up after their dogs.

I believe if you can't clean up after your pet, then you should not be allowed to own a dog. There is no reasonable excuse for failing to clean up. Owners also have a responsibility to the public, as dog fouling is not only unpleasant, it is dangerous. The biggest threat to public health from dog excrement is dizziness, nausea, asthma and, in extremely rare cases, seizures or

Often the eggs are ingested when passed to the mouth by the hands; but this can also occur through contact with dogs or other inanimate objects, including the wheels of toys and the soles of shoes.

Infected soil samples are often found in play areas and as a result, toxocariasis most commonly affects children between 18 months and five years. If owners are not going to take responsi-bility for their animals, then the council has to come down hard on

The council should not be taking this matter lightly; they should be issuing a fixed penalty notice, or a fine of up to £1,000.

Also coming back to the person who wrote in last week's GEM, I am horrified to read this resident has complained on numerous occasions, and yet is still being subjected to dog fouling over a six-month period

My heart goes out to this person; you must be at your wit's end. Pauline Inch (nee Moore), Vale resident.

Deputy Leader of the Vale Council, Coun Stuart Egan, replied:

"It is disappointing that Mr Davies has yet again not checked out his facts on an issue, before send-ing out an inaccurate press release.
"All redundancy packages have to be sup-ported by a business case, and are approved by the Early Retirement and Redundancy Committee.

"Of the 21 cases approved in 2012/13, 12 were approved by the committee, which was chaired by the Conservative cabinet member prior to the May 2012 election, when the Conservative administration was still in power, at a total cost of £180,790.75, an average cost of £15,065.90. "It must be pointed out that, since that time. of the nine cases approved under the Labour-led administration the total cost was £104.679.46, an average cost of £11,631.05. "If Mr Davies does not support his Conservative colleagues in the decisions they made, then I suggest he takes that up with them directly.

"Redundancy payments are based on the early retirement and redundancy scheme which was agreed by the Conservative cabinet in June 2008. The scheme provides for payments well below the maximum allowed by regulations, with a maximum of 49.5 weeks pay or £30k. "The council has had to make considerable savings to balance its budget and these redundancies will deliver sig-nificant savings year on year, with the senior management restructure approximately saving £500,000 per annum. "As we go forward we will continue as a council to strive to live within today's tough financial climate – due to cuts implemented by the Westminster Government. "The council uses measures to avoid redundancies by redeploying staff wherever possible."

TRUE COST OF THE EU'

have a response from John Owen (The GEM August 1) that tells us what the press tells us is wrong with the EU, rather than tell us how we are going to manage on our own as a trading nation if we leave the EU.

He repeats the line that the EU costs the UK £45 million per day. This is not true. is not true.

The figure quoted is the amount we pay into the EU each day and takes no account of the money that comes back in the form of CAP payments to Welsh farmers, industrial regeneration, and capital spending grants to the Welsh and UK governments, and a myriad of other ways.

It's been calculated that the net cost to the UK of EU membership is between £3–4 billion per annum.

I hold no truck with the bureaucracy of the EU but to bandy around the usual adjectives 'unelected' and 'unac countable' is again a distortion of the facts.

He refers to the social costs of pensions, which are not set by Europe, National Insurance, which is not set by Europe and which pays for the state pension and the NHS, maternity leave, which was introduced by the UK government and altered by Europe, to give more benefits to pregnant women and after their babies were born.

'Gentleman' Tony retires after completing 8,000 home repairs

GOOD wishes go to popular 'handyperson' Anthony 'Tony' Richards who retired as handyperson of Care and Repair in the Vale on July 17 after completing over 8,000 home repairs for older people.

Tony has worked at Care and Repair in the Vale for 10 years, making a difference to the lives of older people by repairing, maintaining and adapting their homes.

He worked over the whole of the county but his main area was in the west of the Vale.

As a result of Tony's highly-regarded work, older people have contacted Care and Repair in the Vale to say that they now feel safer, more confident and more secure undertaking their daily activities in their Comments from customers include "Tony is one of the most polite and informative gentlemen I have met," and, "I always look forward to seeing him; he's such a nice, kind gentleman and does a wonderful job." Richard Thomas, Manager at Care

In fact, according to The Royal Horticultural Society (RHS), less than per cent of the annual vater consumption of an average household is garden use, but at peak times as much as 70 per cent of water supplied may be used in gardens.

This doesn't have to be the case though. Rainwater collected in water butts, waste water from the kitchen and grey water from the bathroom can all be used to water plants.

Or, maybe, the ultimate solution is simply to create a garden that doesn't need much watering in the first place. This doesn't mean creating a desert garden devoid of colour.

Dramatic flowerbeds can easily be achieved from plants that have very low moisture and maintenance demands.

Many drought-resistant plants naturally form communities of plants which all thrive in the same conditions and come from similar Mediterranean habitats

At the front of the border, you could have dwarf lavender, Sedum spectabile, lamb's ears and ornamental grass such as stipa tenuissima, while middle-sized drought-resistant plants include Echinacea purpurea 'Magnus', Erysimum 'Bowles's Mauve' (wallflower), Russian sage and Nepeta 'Six Hills Giant' (cat-

age.
Ideally, plant in autumn so they can do some growing before dry weather arrives.

If planting Mediterranean plants, do so in spring when the soil is warming up. Many of these plants will suffer from root-rot if planted in autumn and become cold and damp over winter.

 Before planting, thoroughly soak the plants in their pots in a bucket of water until the bubbles stop rising to the surface.

Thoroughly 'water in' all new plants (and keep them watered in the first season after planting to ensure they establish well)

Group pays poignant visit to Normandy's wartime battlefields

ON a recent four-day visit to the Normandy battlefields, the 'Back Tuesday' group based at the Plough and Harrow, Monknash, paid their respects at a number of graves of local men, who were killed in the D-Day campaign during World War Two.

At Bayeux cemetery, the group visited the grave of Glyn David Lougher, of Marcross, who died on June 27, 1944. Glyn served with the Reconnaisance Corps, RAC, 49th West Riding) Regiment.

He was 19 when he was killed and was the son of David and Ann Lougher, of Marcross

A wreath, and pebbles from Marcross beach were laid on behalf of the group by John Lougher, of Ty-tanglwst Farm who gave a short talk to the group about Glyn Lougher. At Cambes-en-Plein cemetery, north of Caen, the group paid their respects to John Rowdan James, who was killed on July 8, 1944, while serving with the South Staffordshire Regiment. The remembrance was led by his son John James, who lives in Covchurch.

John was born two days after his father was killed and has visited the grave on several occasions.

All the group members felt that the Commonwealth War Graves Commission do a fantastic job in maintaining the cemeteries to such a high standard.

On the ferry back, by a strange coincidence the group met veterans of the South Staffordshire regiment, who return to the area every year on the anniversary of the battle for Caen, where their regiment suffered such high casualties.

John James was able to talk to the veterans who are in their late 80s and 90s, one of whom had known John's father.

This was a really poignant and emotional moment.

During the weekend, the group were able to visit all five landing beaches, Utah, Omaha, Gold, Juno

Out and About with The GEM

GOSLING'S LATEST WILL CERTAINLY DIVIDE CINEMA AUDIENCE!

THERE are few cooler movies that have been released this century than Drive.

The tale of a getaway driver and his burgeoning relationship with his next door neighbour was effortlessly ice-cold and arguably made Ryan Gosling the coolest man on the planet. Gosling has reteamed with that film's director,

Nicolas Winding Refn, for Only God Forgives, which sees Gosling play Julian, a drug-smuggler in Bangkok, whose life gets even more complicated when his mother (Kristin Scott Thomas) tasks him with finding and killing the man responsible for killing his brother, something that will push Julian to the edge. When Only God Forgives premiered earlier this year at the Cannes Film Festival, the response was a chorus of boos and jeers, rather than the standing ovations that you usually hear of from the south of France.

Watching it, you can see where the audience was coming from, the work a woozy fever dream of a film where plotting and character development take a backseat to imagery and suggestion.

However, if you are willing to buy into Nicholas Winding Refn's vision, and let the film wash over, then you may just find your-self being seduced by Only God Forgives' obtuse charm.

While Drive was a cool, efficient thriller that did what it did with great economy, this time around the focus is less on Gosling as a leading man, and more as part of an ensemble that constantly pushes and pulls away from the film's structure. Lensing Bangkok with an eye for the dark-er recesses of the area, Refn's direction is slowburning, measured and cares more for attempt-ing to convey mood and meaning than it does with hurrying the story along.

It looks gorgeous, the occasional visceral violence having even more impact when snapping the film out of its dreamy feel, yet it never rushes along, sticking resolutely to its own pacing.

It's a similar situation for the story, where whys and hows are fore-gone; Refn is saying something about the arrogance of the stranger in a strange land, and the nature of parent-child relationships, but if you need explanation and exposition, then don't look for it here

Gosling spends much of the film looking mean and moody in a variety of lights, but it shows his magnetism that his performance is impressive despite the lack of dialogue and backstory, the character torn between pleasing his overbearing mother and living his own life. Said mother is played by Kristin Scott Thomas, who delivers a performance a million miles away from expec-tations, the bleached-blonde, foul-mouthed woman a fair distance away from her usual work, and going against type pays great dividends.

Vithaya Pansringarm makes up the lead tri-umvirate as the police chief keeping an eye on Julian and his mother, whose own brand of justice involves a sharp sword, and it is a star-tling, powerful performance by the actor, one that easily steals the show from his esteemed colleagues, his perform-ance lingering long after the credits.

Despite this fulsome praise, Only God Forgives isn't an easy film to love and should be approached mindful of its lack of story and depth; many will no doubt find the film too slow and unengaging. But if you fancy something of a challenge, then it is certainly worth a try, a dark, disembod-

Flying priest is back in Barry

THIS Sunday (August 11) there is the chance in Barry, to hear a priest who in recent months has been flown by RAF jet to take charge of churches of the South Atlantic Island of St Helena and sailed on the paddle steamer Waverley, to lead Evensong on Lundy Island in the Bristol Channel.

Father Roy Doxsey was, until one year ago, Vicar of the Church of St German in Cardiff. His life as a priest has included the amazing contrasts of serving in the poorest and most deprived parts of Africa and as chaplain at an English public school.

He will lead the services, and preach, at the church of Merthyr Dyfan on Sunday at 8.45am and at St Paul's Church, in St Paul's Avenue Barry at 10am. Everyone is welcome

VOLUNTEERS BRAVE ICE AND SNOW FOR LOCAL CHARITY DURING MOUNTAIN TREK

A GROUP of supporters of a Cowbridge-based charity have made it safely home after almost two weeks trekking through snow and ice at high altitude in South America.

The Prostate Cymru 'Touching The Sun' team returned home to Cardiff Airport last Thursday (August 1).

As the photos on this page make clear, although the phrase 'touching the sun' might conjure up images of somewhere warm, in reality the walk was a serious mountain expedition.

The team had to navigate long stretches of snow and ice, and cold weather clothing was essential.

Their mission was to climb five volcanos – one the highest mountain in Ecuador – to raise money for robotic surgery at the University of Wales Hospital, Cardiff, as part of the Prostate Cymru 'Touching The Sun' Challenge

In fact, the team were unable to reach the summit of all five, because the highest peak of Chimborazo was impossible to Sun team on Iliniza Norte, climb due to the extremely bad weather.

The Prostate Cymru 'band of brothers' (and sisters) were led by Andy Thomas, consultant urologist at the Princess of Wales Hospital, Bridgend, the cofounder, with the late Ray Murray, of GLAZE and Prostate Cymru.

Andy's team was Sue and Eddie Butler, Martin Caswell, Peter Croke, Nigel Cuthbertson, John Edwards, Wynne Harries, Christine Holme, Andrew Jones, Keith Mort, Matt Murray and Robert Norster.

Robert Norster.
During the 15-day expedition, they walked through the 'Avenue of Volcanoes', which contains some of the country's highest volcanic peaks.

The team were welcomed home at the airport by family and friends and by Jon Horne, the chief executive of Cardiff Airport.

Barry RFC Patrons' night off

IT is with regret that due a poor response for our Patrons Barbecue, the event has been cancelled.

We apologise to those that had booked to attend; however, the planned viewing of the Wall of Memory between 2pm and 5pm on August 17 will still take place as arranged and we look forward to seeing you.

DARTS DATE

THIS Friday (August 9), an inter league darts match will take place at the Barry Football Club.

A team representing the Barry Darts League, will take on a representative side from the Caldicot and Magor Darts League.

The match, which will consist of 11 singles games and two games of doubles, will begin at approximately 8pm. With the away side bringing a strong set of supporters, we would encourage people to come along and support the Barry team

Munro

Llantwit Major men's bowls team had another good result in the Munro Cup on Wednesday with a 90-51 win at Murch.

Steve Booker's rink took the lead after two ends with two scores of four shots keeping them well ahead throughout the game to win by nine shots

Richard George's rink led from the start, being 12 shots up before Murch went on the scoreboard; Llantwit were then held on the score of 18 for six ends before scoring again to notch up a 14 shot win.

Danny Ahearne's rink started slowly finding it difficult to adapt to the slow green and were six down after five ends; they pulled back to take the lead on the ninth end which they held until the final two ends, when they conceded eight shots to lose by three shots.

Graham Jones' rink were behind for six ends before going on to short jacks to counteract the heavy green. This was to Llantwit's liking scoring two ends of five and two ends of four to win the match convincingly by 19 shots.

LADY BOWLERS Firstly, an apology to the ladies teams - last week's report said we had lost against Bridgend Municipal B.C, but in fact we did win 6 out of the 10 points available.

On Tuesday, we travelled to Cowbridge B.C for a Cowbridge Challenge Shield Match. We don't expect to win at Cowbridge as they have an artificial rink, which we are not used to and this match was no different we lost on all rinks with no points gained.

The rinks were Kay Johnes, Lyn Oatley, Margaret Morgan and Peggy Pike 10-19; Liz Crouch, Margaret Horgan, Etta Gray and Julie Molloy 8-20; Edna Hardie, Marian Lewis and Ann Mutlow 12-14.

On Thursday, we welcomed Cowbridge

B.C. to Llantwit for a league match and we won on all rinks, gaining the full 10 points.

The rinks were Edna Hardie, Pat Cook, Etta Gray and Carol Willmot 35-10; Liz Crouch, Barbara Lewis, Julie Mollov and Marian Lewis 30-8; Kay Johnes, Ann Mutlow Peggy Pike and Margaret Morgan 33-0.

SUPER SENIORS ENJOY THE SUN!

THE fourth annual super senior competition at Cottrell Park held on July 22 was won by Dai Rees with 37 points.

The competition is pen to all male members of the club who are 70 vears of age or older.

In magnificent weather, 23 players enjoyed the Mackintosh course, which was in great condition.

Runner-up was Donald Williams with 36 points, third was Peter Owen, also with 36 points.

Aubrey Bowen had the most (seven) three and four points and Ian Cunningĥam won nearest the pin in two strokes on the 14th hole.

Last year's winner, Chris Stanlake, and David Stephenson both had a two.

After the competition, the players enjoyed a convivial meal and prize presentation.

John McGlyne, who organized the competi-tion, expressed pleasure at the number of people who participated, and delight that the weather this year was very much better than last year's deluge!

RECENTLY the Cadoxton Schools of Tae Kwon Do held their second colour belt grading of the year.

The grading took place at the Victoria Park Community Centre, and in charge of the proceedings was master Ron Thomas 8th Dan. Master Thomas was assisted by Chelsea Rees (4th degree), Bradley Halford (2nd degree), Matthew Bennett and Anita Sheppard (1st degrees). The grading saw 27

voung as five years old sitting the exam, which consisted of traditional forms, set and free sparring, power tests, theory and to finish, general questions.

The grading was a success with all 27 students passing.

Two achieved top grade 'A' pass, Fae Hillberg and Lucia-Ann Cunningham. The winner of the grading shield was Fae Hillberg. Fae will now hold the shield until the next grading exam.

Successful candidates were; promoted to 9th kup orange belt:

Cunningham. Courtney James, Cameron Evans and Fae Hillberg. Promoted to 8th kup yellow belt: Lucia-Ann Cunningham, Maddison Allen, Ruth Sullivan, Peter O`Callaghan, Kelly Quigley, Alexis Cunningham and

Promoted to 7th green stripe: Kurtis James, Ben Phillips, Lewis Davies, Martin James, Brooke Baker, Ellie-Ann Osborne and Jessica Blackley. Promoted to 6th kun green belt: Mason Blackley. Promoted to 5th kup blue stripe: Joel Wells, Emily Halford.

Promoted to 4th kup blue belt: Evan Baron, Cody Jacobsen and Jake Quigley. Promoted to 1st kup black stripe: Alan Evans and Gabrielle Thorne.

Millwood bowls round-up

MILLWOOD bowlers took on Murch on July 27 and were on the wrong end of a 80-62 defeat in a weather-affected game.

On the same day, the A team faced Roath Park away and suffered a 126-56 loss.

his opponent's defences with a brutal attack.

Captain Lee Davis

won a pawn after some early manoeuvring and duly won the endgame to make the score 3-0.

Although the match was won, Barry were still not sure of the title as Cardiff could steal the the same night.

Chess three, Craig Woolcock always had the better of a tactical game before his opponent resigned when faced with ruinous loss of material.

Craig won all of his games in this competition and this final victory secured for Barry their fourth summer league title in five years.

The final internal tournament of the summer programme is the Barry Lighning Chess Tournament which takes place on August 19. In this format a buzzer sounds every 10 seconds and the players must move on the buzzer ready or not!

Non-members are welcome to both this event and also to the more gentle 'free Monday' club nights that precede this competition. If there are any new or prospective members of the club I suggest that they contact either myself or another club member before turning up at the club so that we can ensure you receive a warm welcome; for more details visit our website - barrychess club.yolasite.com.
